

CORO

COR16095

J.S. BACH

Trio Sonatas for Organ

Robert Quinney organ

Recorded at The Queen's College, Oxford, on the beautiful Frobenius organ, the Trio Sonatas are among Bach's most popular and appealing organ works. Compiled in the composer's later years, perhaps as studies for his eldest son Wilhelm Friedemann, the Trio Sonatas are unique in the organ repertory.

They are performed here by principal organist of The Sixteen and Sub-Organist of Westminster Abbey, Robert Quinney.

1 - 3	Sonata I in E flat major BWV525	12.21
4 - 6	Sonata II in C minor BWV526	11.42
7 - 9	Sonata III in D minor BWV527	15.51
10 - 12	Sonata IV in E minor BWV528	10.06
13 - 15	Sonata V in C major BWV529	13.47
16 - 18	Sonata VI in G major BWV530	14.58
	Total running time	78.57

